SCHOOL OF LAW HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

THE HONORABLE EDWARD C. CLIFTON

Doctor of Laws, Honoris Causa

Associate Justice, Rhode Island Superior Court (Ret.)

B.A. University of California, Berkeley

J.D. University of California, Los Angeles

The Honorable Edward C. Clifton served as an Associate Justice on the Rhode Island Superior Court for more than 20 years, before retiring in 2015.

He first came to the Ocean State to work at Rhode Island Legal Services under a national fellowship program that assigned service-minded young lawyers to poor communities around the country. He later joined the Rhode Island Public Defender's office, and in 1978 entered private practice as a partner at the firm of Stone, Clifton and Clifton. From 1985 to 1991, he was City Solicitor for the City of Providence.

Judge Clifton was appointed to the Rhode Island District Court in 1993, and to the Rhode Island Superior Court a year later. He presided over the state's first adult drug court. Since his retirement, he has volunteered with the Supreme Court Appellate Mediation Program.

Judge Clifton served on the Rhode Island Supreme Court's Permanent Committee on Women & Minorities for 17 years, including six as chair. In 2020, he was appointed to the Committee on Racial and Ethnic Fairness in the Rhode Island Courts. He is a member and past president of the Board of Directors of the National Consortium on Racial and Ethnic Fairness in the Courts. He was Distinguished Jurist in Residence at RWU Law from 2015 until 2018.

An original incorporator and past president of the Thurgood Marshall Law Society of Rhode Island, Judge Clifton has served on many boards and committees, including RWU Law's Board of Directors from 2009 until 2020. Among numerous other awards and honors, he received RWU Law's 2018 Champions for Justice Award, recognizing his "exceptional devotion to social justice and increasing access to justice for all."

LYNETTE LABINGER

Doctor of Laws, Honoris Causa

Constitutional and Civil Rights Attorney

A.B. Mount Holyoke College

J.D. New York University School of Law

Attorney Lynette Labinger has made a career out of fighting for social change. She has been celebrated as "one of the region's most successful and dedicated social advocacy lawyers, playing a significant role in cases and court decisions that have affected everything from equality in women's athletics to the rights of prison preachers, avant-garde artists and same-sex couples."

While visiting relatives in the Soviet Union in 1970, Labinger said, she "really came to recognize the importance of the First Amendment here in the United States [and] got very interested in what the law could do in terms of social advocacy. That's where I still am today."

She was first drawn to the Ocean State by a clerkship with the Honorable Raymond J. Pettine of the U.S. District Court for the District of Rhode Island, known for his groundbreaking decisions in the field of constitutional and civil rights. She went on to work at a law firm headed by Milton Stanzler, one of the founders of the Rhode Island affiliate of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU).

Labinger continued to champion constitutional and civil rights litigation throughout her years of private practice, including a 35-year association with her partner John M. Roney. Since 2018, she has limited her practice to cases sponsored by the ACLU of Rhode Island.

From 2004 to 2019, Labinger served as an Associate and later as Chief Judge of the Housing Court of the City of Providence. A Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers, she has received numerous honors for her civil rights advocacy, including recognition in 2019 by the Roger Williams University Law Review as a "Gender Equity Champion."
